American taxpayers are quite interested in knowing how banks have used the money that Treasury has invested under the Capital Purchase Program (CPP) and Community Development Capital Initiative (CDCI). To answer that question, Treasury is seeking responses that describe generally how the CPP/CDCI investment has affected the operation of your business. We understand that once received, the cash associated with TARP funding is indistinguishable from other cash sources, unless the funds were segregated, and therefore it may not be feasible to identify precisely how the CPP/CDCI investment was deployed or how many CPP/CDCI dollars were allocated to each use. Nevertheless, we ask you to provide as much information as you can about how you have used the capital Treasury has provided, and how your uses of that capital have changed over time. Treasury will be pairing this survey with a summary of certain balance sheet and other financial data from your institution's regulatory filings, so to the extent you find it helpful to do so, please feel free to refer to your institution's quarterly call reports to illustrate your answers. This is your opportunity to speak to the taxpayers in your own words, which will be posted on our website.

What specific ways did your institution utilize CPP/CDCI capital? Check all that apply and elaborate as appropriate, especially if the uses have shifted over time. Your responses should reflect actions taken over the past year (or for the portion of the year in which CPP/CDCI funds were outstanding).

☒ Increase lending or reduce lending less than otherwise would have occurred.

The CPP funds improved our capital position and allowed us to continue to lend in 2011 despite the elevated level of our non-performing loans and the net operating loss experienced.

☐ Increase reserves for non-performing assets.

☐ Reduce borrowings.

☒ Increase charge-offs.

Net charge-offs were $36.2 million in 2011. Some of the charge off were related to a change in the Company's accounting policy relating to the use of Specific Valuation Allowances (SVA's). The CPP funds allowed us to maintain a well capitalized status despite the elevated level of charge offs.

What actions were you able to avoid because of the capital infusion of CPP/CDCI funds?

The CPP funds improved HMN's capital position and allowed us to continue to lend to credit worthy borrowers despite the elevated level of non-performing assets and the net operating losses experienced due to the elevated loan loss provisions recorded. Without the CPP funds, the Bank would have had to decrease the size of our existing loan portfolio even more dramatically than we did in order to reduce the risk of our capital falling below acceptable levels. The CPP funds allowed us to maintain our well capitalized status during 2011. Without the CPP funds, the net operating loss we experienced in 2011 as a result of the elevated loan loss provision would have reduced our capital levels to an amount below well capitalized.
